This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. APPENDIX.

CONDITIONS OF MEMBERSHIP.

THE Seminary is open for the admission of Protestants of all denominations.

Every applicant for the privileges of the Seminary must, previously to his admission, present to the Faculty satisfactory testimonials respecting his Christian character, his regular membership of a Church of Christ, his possession of good natural talents, and his having received a complete collegiate education, or its equivalent so far as concerns preparation for theological studies. Exception is made in some cases to the requirement of formal connection with a Church, and the applicant is, in such case, required to subscribe a declaration of his belief in the Christian religion.

Candidates for admission will be examined, with reference to their personal piety, their object in pursuing theological studies, and their knowledge of the classic languages. If they have not received a collegiate diploma, they will be further examined in Mathematics, Logic, Rhetoric, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and Intellectual Philosophy.

In case of application for admission to an advanced standing, the candidate will be liable to an examination also, in all the studies which have been pursued by the class with which he wishes to be connected.

All candidates for admission are required to express their purpose to complete three full years of theological study, unless prevented by some unforeseen and unavoidable necessity.

Admission to the Class of Resident Licentiates is granted only to those who make application for it to the Faculty; and who have honorably completed a course of three years of professional study at a Theological Seminary, or have otherwise obtained the equivalent of such a course. Exception to this rule is made in rare cases, in which persons having in view the missionary service, or some other peculiar ministerial duty, have not been able to pursue a regular course of theological discipline.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

This Institution is designed to give the most thorough theological culture, that can be obtained by a course of not less than three years' study.

Digitized by Google

To effect this object, it is deemed essential that nine full months be devoted to study, in each year; and that this period be so divided by suitable vacations, as to promote the most vigorous pursuit of study during term time. A change has been recently made in the vacations, for the purpose of securing to the studies of the Course, those portions of the year which are most favorable to mental vigor.

Accordingly, the Anniversary is henceforth to be held on the first Thursday in August.

The first Term commences six weeks after the Anniversary; and continues till six weeks before the first Thursday in May.

The second Term commences on the first Thursday in May; and continues till the Anniversary.

It is highly important that all the students should be present at the beginning of the year in September. The Lectures to all the Classes commence promptly; and, for the Junior Class, punctuality at that time is especially necessary to any considerable success in the study of Hebrew.

It is, furthermore, earnestly recommended that students should, if possible, so arrange their plans that the whole of every term shall be devoted exclusively to their duties in the Seminary. Experience has proved that the labor of teaching, and of other similar avocations, during term-time, is an evil. Students are advised to avoid it, unless compelled to endure it by absolute necessity. Even the vacations should not be unnecessarily spent in exhausting pursuits.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The Plan of study is designed to concentrate attention, as far as this is practicable, upon single departments in succession.

Accordingly, the first year of the Course is given mainly to the study of the Scriptures; the second, to that of Systematic Theology; and the third is necessarily divided between the departments of Ecclesiastical History and Sacred Rhetoric. Exegetical Studies, however, are continued through the entire Course.

The following Schedule presents in detail, the chief exercises of each department.

First Term.

Professor Stowe. Lectures. General Principles of Interpretation, and Science of Hermeneutics: Text of the Old and New Testament — its History, Existing Manuscripts, Collation of Manuscripts, and Identity of the Present with the Ancient Text: Language and Sentiment of the New Testament, compared with the language and sentiment of the Apostolic Fathers and the Apocryphal New Testament: Language of the Septuagint and the Apocryphal Old Testament, considered in its influence on the language and Scriptural quotations of the New Testament: Exegesis of the Gospels in Harmony, and of the Acts in select portions.

Professor Barrows. Hebrew Grammar and Exercises; Recitations of select portions of the Pentateuch in Hebrew, with Lectures on the history of the Creation, Fall, and Deluge; Recitation of portions of the Psalms in Hebrew, including the principal Messianic Psalms; Discussions respecting the principles of Messianic Prophecy, the nature of Prophetic Imprecation, the doctrine of Divine Retribution as developed in the Old Testament, and other topics connected with the Interpretation of the Psalms.

Second Term.

Professor Stowe. Lectures. The New Testament View of the Old Testament Types and Prophecies; General Principles of Typical and Prophetic Interpretation; Select Prophecies of Christ, Paul, and the Apocalypse, compared with Isaiah, Daniel, and Zechariah; Exegesis of one or more of the Pauline and Catholic Epistles.

Professor Barrows. Lectures. Principles and Constitution of the Hebrew Commonwealth: its Relations to the Christian Dispensation.

Recitations. Selections from the Prophetical Books.

Middle Year.

First Term.

Professor Park. Lectures. The Existence and Attributes of God; the Immortality of the Soul; Divine Authority and Inspiration of the Bible; the Trinity; Purposes of God, — Election; Natural and Moral Government of God; the Will; Nature of Holiness and Sin; the Permission of Sin; Total Depravity; Natural State of Man; the Apostasy.

Second Term.

Professor Park. Lectures. The Atonement; Regeneration; Sanctification,— the Christian Virtues, Various Theories of Christian Perfection, Perseverance of the Saints; Eschatology, — the Resurrection, Judgment, Future Punishment; Positive Institutions, — the Church, the Ministry; Sacraments, — Baptism, — the Lord's Supper.

The Lectures are delivered at eleven o'clock, A. M. on six days of the week. They are interspersed with evening discussions on questions of Mental Philosophy and Theology, and with frequent examinations of the Class on the subjects of the Lectures.

Professor Shedd. Lectures. Introduction to Church History, — the Doctrine of Development limited and applied; Literature of the Department; Methodology. General Internal History of the Church, — Influence of Philosophical Systems; History of Apologies; Special History of Doctrines; History of Symbols.

Recitations. Guericke's Manual, with supplementary reference to Neander's General History, and Hagenbach's History of Doctrines.

Second Term.

Professor Phelps. Lectures. Modes of Preaching Doctrinal Theology. Theory of Style; History of English Style. Select examples of Secular Eloquence.

Professor Shedd. Lectures. General Internal History of the Church continued, — History of Polity; of Worship; of Morals; Sketches of Historic Individuals. Pastoral Theology, — Religious, Intellectual, and Social Character of the Clergyman; Pastoral Visiting; Catechizing.

Recitations, and Exercises in Criticism, continued, as in the first term.

General Exercises.

Special instruction is given in public and private lessons, by a Professor of Elocution, during the Second Term.

The Porter Rhetorical Society meets weekly, for literary criticism, Discussions, and Orations. Once each month, this Society holds a public meeting, which is attended by the citizens of the place.

The Society of Inquiry is specially designed for the study of Missions. Its exercises are enriched by correspondence with those of the Alumni of the Seminary who are in the Missionary service.

LIBRARIES.

The various Libraries belonging to the Seminary and the Societies, now number twenty-two thousand volumes. They are annually increased by the income of funds appropriated to this object.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

A Congregational Church exists in the Seminary, and its public services are held regularly on the Sabbath, and at least one evening each week. The Faculty are its Pastors. It is deemed very desirable, though not required, that the students should become members of the Seminary Church. It is believed that this would conduce to the cultivation of fraternal feeling, to the enjoyment of Pastoral influence, and to religious growth.

The prosperity of the Academic department of the Institution, and the growing population of the place, have given increased importance to the organization of the Church.

EXPENSES AND BENEFICIARY AID.

No expense is incurred for instruction; and none by undergraduates for rooms in the public buildings, except three dollars a year for the care of rooms and beds, and for repair of buildings. If a student occupies a room in Bartlett Hall, without a room-mate, he is required to pay twice the above amount.

Each student pays also, three dollars a year for the use of the Library, and five dollars a year for the care, warming and lighting of lecture-rooms and the Chapel, for the ringing of the bell, and for other incidental expenses.

Resident Licentiates pay forty cents a week for a room in the public buildings, and three dollars a year for the use of the Library.

The rooms in the Seminary are supplied with beds, bedding, and some other furniture. The occupants provide stoves and such additional furniture as their habits may require. The average expense for fuel and lights, if a room has two occupants, is about seventeen dollars.

During the prevalence of the present extreme prices of provisions, the highest price of board in private families is two dollars and seventy-five cents weekly; and the lowest price in associations is two dollars. Washing is done for thirty-seven cents the dozen pieces.

To those whose pecuniary necessities require it, about a dollar a week is given from the funds of the Seminary. Applicants for this aid are required to present certificates, from some responsible person, testifying to their indigent circumstances. This aid may be more or less in future, varying with the number of applicants. It has not varied, materially, however, from the above amount, for several years.

No student can receive charitable assistance the first year, who is not examined and approved within the first five weeks of the year.

Beneficiaries of the American Education Society, receive in addition, eighty dollars annually.

Still further assistance has been furnished in money and clothing, by individuals in the neighboring cities and villages, to such as have needed this aid. Contributions valued at several hundred dollars were thus appropriated during the last year.

A society of ladies exists, in connection with the Seminary, whose funds are specially devoted to the relief of students who are subjected to the expenses of sickness.

Members in the Senior Class are also able, generally, to add to their pecuniary resources by preaching in vacant pulpits, in the Spring vacation and the Summer term. In this respect, the location of the Seminary is eminently favorable.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR PHYSICAL EXERCISE.

The Trustees have appropriated a tract of productive land, for the gratuitous use of those students who may choose to cultivate it. The exercise in the garden or the field is not only serviceable to their health, but it also yields to them a pecuniary profit.

The Seminary, while it enjoys the advantages of rural quiet, is yet within two or three miles of several populous manufacturing villages in Andover, within four miles of Lawrence, ten of Lowell, Bradford and Haverhill, fifteen of Salem, and twenty of Boston, Charlestown, Roxbury, Cambridge, etc. Being thus within an hour's distance by railroad, from the most flourishing cities and towns of Eastern Massachusetts, it offers many facilities for agreeable exercise.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The General policy of this Institution is established by a long and successful experience. The guardianship exercised over its members, aims at promoting a combination of thoroughness in mental discipline, and of large acquisitions, with a thoughtful piety.

This object, its friends believe to be preëminently favored by its rural situation in the midst of the most densely peopled section of the country.
